

Our Mission

Facilitate the identification of appropriate placement alternatives based on the required level of care, while demonstrating compassion, and effective communication with families, facilities and exhibiting empathy towards seniors in need of assistance.

Who We Are

Strange Senior Placement Solutions LLC is a vital resource for families navigating the complexities of senior care. As a women-owned independent business located in Lancaster, NY, we are committed to making a meaningful difference in our community. Founded by Julie Strange, who brings a wealth of experience in the senior care field, our team has successfully assisted over 500 seniors in finding the right level of care. We understand the profound impact our work has on families, and we take pride in being a trusted partner during this important transition.

We aim to provide families with essential support, and valuable information. We recognize that each journey is unique, and we are here to ensure that your loved one receives the care they deserve.

Let Strange Senior Placement Solutions be your trusted ally in this important journey.

"...Julie offered incredible support and a wealth of resources that made it so much easier for our family to figure out the complicated senior living options."

"My son and I were taking turns looking after my wife at home, and it was tough, especially with my own health problems. I felt a bit lost until my son found Strange Senior Placement Solutions. Julie offered incredible support and a wealth of resources that made it so much easier for our family to figure out the complicated senior living options."

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the timeline to call and use these services ?

There's no exact timeline for when to utilize a company's services, but we recommend that anyone caring for an elderly loved one who might require extra help should begin exploring options sooner rather than waiting.

What should I anticipate during a consultation?

Our primary responsibility is to assess your unique needs, clarify your preferences, and deliver reliable, high-quality information. We help you understand all available options, empowering you to make informed decisions with confidence. Additionally, we provide valuable, time-saving insights, including details about costs, resources, and benefits.

How can we be sure that you'll present us with the best choices?

We are committed to acting in the best interest of everyone, not just what serves our own needs. Our professional duty requires us to make impartial decisions based solely on the information provided by our clients.
